

ADEPT-Related Certificate Suspensions

The following South Carolina teaching certificate requirements apply to you if

- your certificate was suspended on or before June 30, 2006,
- your certificate was suspended due to one or more unsuccessful ADEPT formal evaluations, and
- you have not yet had your certificate reinstated.

If you wish to have your South Carolina teaching certificate reinstated, the following ADEPT requirements must be completed on or before June 30, 2011.

- You must successfully complete all of the course work that was specified in your original certificate suspension notification letter. To ensure that the courses you select will satisfy the ADEPT requirements for reinstatement of your certificate, you are encouraged to obtain pre-approval from the ADEPT Office prior to enrolling in each course.
- Courses must be taken at the graduate level.
- Courses must be taken from an approved teacher education program at an accredited institution of higher education.
- You must receive a final grade of B or higher in each course.
- You must request that your official transcript(s) verifying completion of all required course work be submitted to the Office of Educator Certification at the South Carolina Department of Education.
- You must notify the ADEPT Office that you have completed all course work, and request a certificate reinstatement review on or before June 30, 2011. Failure to complete all required course work and to notify the ADEPT Office by June 30, 2011, will result in your having to reapply for initial certification, to meet all certification requirements that are in effect at the time of your reapplication, and to fulfill all ADEPT course work requirements that were specified in your certificate suspension notification letter.
- Once you have satisfied all ADEPT requirements, you will need to pay the $95 certificate reinstatement fee. The eligibility for certificate reinstatement notice you receive from the ADEPT Office will include details regarding payment of this fee.
